Shasta County Supervisor

Leadership and Experience when it Counts

Education and Qualifications: I was born in Redding and attended St. Joseph Elementary School, and Shasta High School before earning a degree in Public Administration from the University of San Francisco.

I bring stability to public office. With that comes leadership and experience when it counts. I am an advocate for fiscal and management accountability, and responsive leadership that is decisive and trustworthy.

Listening to citizens in a respectful fashion is important to me. I have embraced the responsibility of always being available to help all county residents. I will redouble those efforts in order to assist those impacted by the CARR fire.

I am fully up to speed on county issues, and I know what changes need to be made to reduce the burdens of those affected by the CARR fire. My experience allows me to hit the road running. There will be no down time.

As to increasing jail capacity, I have worked hard to add 102 additional beds to the County Jail, and an additional 100 beds are coming.

The function of government is to take burdens off the backs of people rather than adding to those burdens. My experience makes me uniquely qualified to do this.
